

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A charge pump and a voltage doubler are provided. The charge pump minimizes the difference in voltage between the terminals of a MOS transistor by serially connecting PMOS and NMOS transistors inside the charge pump circuit. The charge pump is able to 5 provide a higher voltage while avoiding a large voltage difference at the gate-source, gate-base and gate-drain interfaces.